The institution determined the population of students and the amount of each student grant utilizing a formula based on the Department of Education guidance. The institution determined that all active students (excluding students on externship or a leave of absence) had expenses related to the disruptions of campus operations and were considered for emergency grant funds from the CARES Act. In addition, based on Department of Education requirements, this population only included those active students who were eligible to receive Title IV funding. To ensure that the emergency grant funds were distributed widely to as many impacted students as possible, the institution made a decision to distribute $250 per month to all eligible students until the CARES emergency grant fund allocation runs out.

All students receiving CARES Act emergency grant funds were provided with an acknowledgement stating how the grant funds must be used and stated the following: I understand that these funds and all future funds I receive and made available to me by the Department of Education are to be used for expenses related to the disruption of campus operations due to coronavirus (including eligible expenses under a student's cost of attendance, such as food, housing, course materials, technology, health care, and child care).
